

Listening and Speaking Difficulty Checklist Informal Diagnostic Inventory

Student Name:

Date:

	Has history of delays in learning to speak
	Speaks too quietly or loudly
	Exhibits halting speech (many pauses or delays in responding)
	Overuses verbal fillers (um, you know, ah)
	Mispronounces and/or confuses words that sound similar, and uses malapropisms (prickle for pickle, pay the troll instead of pay the toll)
	Has difficulty rhyming
	Shows difficulty finding a name or word when speaking
	Uses limited vocabulary
	Frequently uses vague language (that thing, your stuff)
	Frequently misunderstands oral instructions
	Frequently requests repetition of oral information
	Has difficulty retelling a story
	Has difficulty repeating information that was just said
	Has difficulty maintaining a topic in conversation (convoluted narrative, sudden topic changes)
	Has difficulty elaborating on an idea
	Gives limited responses to questions (partial answers or single-word answers)
	Shows little interest in or avoidance of books or stories when read aloud
	Lacks understanding of colloquialisms (What's up?), puns, humor, and idiomatic language (in native language and in second language if fluent)
	Shows general difficulty with social communication skills: understanding the relationship between speaker and listener; interpreting tone of voice, facial expressions, and body language; beginning and ending a conversation; interrupting
	Talks excessively
	Seems unusually quiet

Teacher Comments